

MACLEOD COURT HOUSE ALTERATIONS COMPLETED—BIG IMPROVEMENTS THROUGHOUT

OBITUARY

RICHARD UCHER DEAD; WAS OLD-TIMER OF MACLEOD DISTRICT

Word is received that the sudden death occurred at his home at Monarch on Thursday last, of Richard (Dick) Ucher, at the age of 65 years. The deceased was one of the old-timers in Macleod district, coming here in the early eighties. For many years he ran a stopping house at the river bottom in Kipp, for the mail coaches and other travelers en route from Medicine Hat and Lethbridge, after which he commenced ranching on an extensive scale and made considerable success of this venture. Several years later he built the Monarch hotel, which he conducted until the prohibition act was brought into force in 1916; when he retired again to his ranch. Just before his very sudden demise he was in his usual state of health and was around looking after his stock only the day previous to his death.

The late Mr. Ucher was born in England in March, 1860. He was well-known throughout Southern Alberta. He leaves a widow and three children, two married daughters and a son who runs the ranch.

CURLING CLUB OFFICERS APPOINTED

The members of the Macleod Curling Club gathered together in the Town Hall on Friday evening last and a good meeting was the outcome. J. D. Matheson was elected President for the year, and J. T. Marks secretary with Arthur Young as treasurer. In all probability Macleod will join the Foothills league this season, that is with the Towns of Granum, Claresholm and Nanton, as these towns are more convenient for games and return games. The ice committee reported that the foundation work had already been commenced for the ice this season and with the next cold snap there should be very little difficulty of getting off to a good start in short notice. An entertainment and bonspiel committee were appointed, and it was agreed that a macosin dance would be a splendid start for the season, full particulars of this affair will be published as soon as the committee has made the bonspiel this year will be held at an earlier date than in previous years so there will be no fear of the soft weather breaking in before the 'spiel is over. The fees for the season will be ten dollars with full use of Club rocks. This year promises to be more like old times in the way of curling. A good selection of officers has been made for the season, and there is no doubt with the weather man being at all reasonable some good contests of the Roarin' Game will be witnessed. The slogan for this year adopted by the Macleod Curling Club is "W! besom and stane, she's a roarin' game."

The funeral was held from the Armstrong undertaking establishment to the Pro-Cathedral of the Redeemer on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The Masonic order conducted the service at the Burnside cemetery.

HAVE THE BEST ALWAYS

When buying a newspaper the same rule should apply as when buying goods. You want the best for your money. There is one "best" in Canada and it should be in every home. You should have your own local paper without doubt, but you should also have the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal. It is undoubtedly the greatest family and farm paper on the continent and at the low price of Two Dollars it is a wonderful bargain. This year the Family Herald is giving to each subscriber a chance to win as much as Five Thousand Dollars cash, and each subscriber receives a large calendar with a fascinating picture that would adorn any home. For those who secure new subscribers there are some very handsome rewards, which are described in a catalogue obtainable free.

A TOURIST'S TRIBUTE

H. F. Mullett, an Edmonton tourist, who lately stopped at the Macleod tourist camp at the old police barracks pays the following tribute to the camp and its memories:

To the Old E.N.W.M.P. House—Now Converted into a Much Appreciated Auto Tourist Camp—Macleod, 1874-1924

Old House—While still the lordly buffalo trod The worn brown paths across the virgin sod Your rafters echoed clink of spurs—the laugh of men— But you wouldn't. Dead, most of them, or passed beyond our ken; They came adventuring, a gallant band, Scarlet and Gold, unto the Red Man's land.

Old House—The years have rolled their pace, And modern ways have changed the prairies' face; Gone is the lordly buffalo; no more your rafters ring With tinkling spur and laughter echoing; The golden grain grows tall where once was virgin sod, And autos speed where once the Red Man trod.

Old House—You too have had your say, And silent now you wait the tourists' stay; Weed-grown your once trim barracks-square—no restless line Of Troopers' horses nod, nor gold-trimmed tunics shine, But from your windows linking new with old, Trim curtains carry still The Scarlet and The Gold.

THE BEACH PLUM

When the sweet winds promise summer, And the skies drip golden light, We look out along the roadways, On a sweep of dazzling white. Gray stone walls are lost in foam-flakes, Bushes wear a silvery dress, Brown aprons blossom like white feathers, Each as soft as a caress. . . . What's the whitest thing you know? Moonlight over frozen snow? Stately cloud-ships sailing slow? Ah, but see the beach-plum blow!—Helen L. Bagley, in "Cape God in Poetry."

"DANGEROUS MONEY" IS BEBE'S LATEST

Miss Daniels Due in First Starring Production for Paramount

Her millions brought fine clothes, travel, adventure, excitement, but they played a sorry trick on love. Thus Bebe Daniels finds herself as Adele Clark in her new Paramount picture, "Dangerous Money," coming to the Empress Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, with everything money can buy, everything, that is, except love, for Tim Sullivan is only a hard-working contracting engineer and—well, remember how you used to say to yourself, "Gee, but I wish someone would only leave me a million dollars, then I'd be the happiest person going!" But you wouldn't. Anyway, Bebe Daniels won't and a trip down to the Empress will show you why—when the old bankroll comes in the front door love goes out the back.

"Dangerous Money" is Bebe Daniels' first Paramount starring production. Tom Moore, as Tim Sullivan, has the leading man's role opposite the star. William Powell is the scheming Prince Arnolfo da Pescia who weds the beautiful Bebe through trickery. Mary Foy is Bebe's aunt, keeper of a boarding house where Adele (Bebe) before she falls into the miller that is, tells daily in the kitchen. Dolores Casinelli, Charles Slater, Peter Lang and Edward O'Connor complete the cast.

Frank Tuttle directed the picture which was adapted to the screen by Julie Herne from the story by John Russell, which is based on Robert Herrick's novel, "Clark's Field."

See what you think of Bebe in a story all her own!

"FORBIDDEN PARADISE" LATEST POLA NEGRI-PARAMOUNT FILM

Pola Negri comes to the Empress Theatre next Monday and Tuesday in the Paramount picture, "Forbidden Paradise," an Ernst Lubitsch production which features Rod La Rocque, Adolphe Menjou and Pauline Starke in the all-star supporting cast.

The Macleod Court House has been greatly improved. The ground floor has been re-modelled. The office of the Sheriff and Clerk are now in the front, and any person transacting business with these officials is brought right in contact with them as he or she enters through the main front. In the centre of the building on the same floor is a spacious room splendidly lighted for the law library. This is an excellent innovation, as the books are arranged in good order and easily accessible by reason of sufficiency of shelf room. Previously the books were piled in a small room in the garret, without enough light, making legal research trying and difficult. At the rear on the same floor is the District Court Judge's Chambers. At the back of this are two lavatories.

The basement has also been re-modelled, and there is now proper accommodation for preserving court records, and a suitable public lavatory in front.

On the second floor the room formerly assigned to the District Court Judge, is now available for a witness' room, which fills a long felt want. The room formerly used for the law library is now fitted up as a robing room for barristers.

BROUGHT HOME FOUR DEER

Ted Winchcomb proprietor of the Fashion Barber Shop, who has been out big game hunting for the past three weeks, arrived home last Saturday, bringing with him a spoils of the chase a fine large buck deer weighing 240 pounds, which he proudly displayed to a crowd of admiring yet envious friends. The owner of this splendid deer carcass hunted in the foothills West of Macleod and was accompanied by Mart Thompson and his brother and R. Nagel, each one of whom brought home a fine specimen. The animal shot by Winchcomb was on view in the P. Burns' Butcher store for several days this week. It is only a young deer, with antlers having four points. Mr. Winchcomb states that they saw all kinds of deer, but the sheep and goats, the cougars, and get within range of, on account of the snow-storms, fogs and blizzards.

MACLEOD REST ROOMS

The Rest Room in Macleod has been a great boon to the farming community in Macleod, for both men and women, and in cold snowy days its warmth and shelter is more than appreciated. It must be understood that the heating of these rooms during the winter months is considerable expense, and that expense has to be met. The Town authorities are doing all they can to keep the rooms open, but a little help during the winter months from patrons of these Rest Rooms would help considerably. A contribution box has been placed on the interior of the inside door that any generous soul who appreciates the comfort of these rooms may drop in a small donation to defray the expenses of heating and lighting.

At the back of this are two lavatories.

The building has been repainted inside and out and much needed new furniture has been installed.

A new cement walk from the front, along the north and east side of the building leads to a side entrance reserved for the use of the Judges and Court Officers.

New grounds have been laid out and trees and flowers will make their appearance next summer. These improvements cost the government considerable money, but they were undoubtedly necessary and the money was well spent.

A few years ago the rumour was that Macleod would be made a sub-district of Lethbridge or something like that. These improvements to the Court House give appearance of permanence to Macleod as a Judicial District. While no doubt the members of the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation District Assembly from other constituencies in the Judicial District of Macleod lent assistance, it is well known that W. H. Shield, M.L.A., from Macleod fought like a Trojan for the money appropriation, and he is entitled to congratulations.

The remodeling and decorative work at the Court House was ably carried out by J. S. Lambert, contractor of Macleod.

EX-KAISER ONCE THREATENED TO KILL HIMSELF

Berlin, Nov. 17.—A story of how former Emperor Wilhelm once threatened to commit suicide is revealed in a book written by Theodore Wolff, editor of the Tagblatt, dealing with Germany's policy during the chancellorship of Von Bulow.

Emperor William in 1905 induced Emperor Nicholas of Russia to sign a treaty of alliance which pledged Germany to aid Russia in Europe, but not in Asia. Von Bulow disapproved of the treaty and orally tendered his resignation. Thereupon William wrote Von Bulow a pathetic letter in which he said the chancellor's resignation gave him such a shock that he had collapsed and he feared he would have a serious nervous illness. In the letter the Kaiser reminded Von Bulow that to please him he had ridden in Tangier on a strange horse, notwithstanding his crippled left arm and that the horse had nearly killed him.

"I rode among the Spanish anarchists," said the letter, "because you wanted me to and because your policy would benefit by it and now after I have done all this, you wish to leave me. If you now disavow your policy I should be made to look ridiculous, which I cannot survive."

Then comes a postscript saying: "The morning after the receipt of your resignation you will not find your Kaiser alive. Think of my poor wife and children."

Von Bulow, according to W. H. finally withdrew his resignation and his reward, the writer declares, came three years later, when the Kaiser dismissed him with the remark: "I have chased the scoundrel away."

"Sister Masons" will meet in the Town Hall November 28th. Come and be initiated.

PLANS FOR SETTLEMENT OF L. N. LANDS TO GO TO LEGISLATURE

Edmonton, Nov. 18.—Premier Greenfield will take with him, when he leaves for the east in a few days' time, a fairly definite government policy in regard to the colonization of the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation District and the adjustment of present landowners' financial affairs. He will discuss the latter angle of the policy with representatives of the leading mortgage houses in Toronto at the present interested in Southern Alberta investments.

The report of the survey made of the Lethbridge Northern District a short time ago by government field men is just now being considered by the cabinet, which is also making inquiries along the line of the conference held in Calgary in the early autumn.

Plan For Legislation

On the basis of this report and other information in the hands of the government, a concrete working scheme for the future administration and settlement of the irrigation lands is to be drawn up and will be submitted, it is expected, to the next legislature. It will provide for bringing all available lands in the district under one selling service, the division of such lands into marketable and workable farms, and the active carrying on of an immigration campaign by which the district will be colonized.

Finances Not So Bad

As to the financial condition of the Lethbridge Northern landowners, the recent surveys have disclosed the fact that, while there is a large total indebtedness, the situation in that respect is not as serious as was thought. Careful note was made of all mortgage encumbrances and other liabilities of the irrigation farmers, and it was found that the sum total is not so great as to render a satisfactory adjustment impossible. There are found to be a comparatively small number of mortgage companies involved in the district and only two or three of these to a large extent.

As to the financial condition of the Lethbridge Northern landowners, the recent surveys have disclosed the fact that, while there is a large total indebtedness, the situation in that respect is not as serious as was thought. Careful note was made of all mortgage encumbrances and other liabilities of the irrigation farmers, and it was found that the sum total is not so great as to render a satisfactory adjustment impossible. people together. Next it was the warlike king who united his people in dreams of conquest. Then came the "grand monarchy," such as existed in the days of Louis XIV.
The British people have exalted the notion of nationality, and have made the British King the incarnation of British nationality. The United States has set up a constitution as a dramatic object of worship.
In both these countries the idea of law, as the supreme authority, has become prevalent.
The bulk of China's population is still far from being able to conceive of an abstract principle of law as the supreme authority in the state. They must still have pagantry of absolute monarchy to feed their imaginations and serve as the fountainhead of authority.
In short, China is not yet ready for democracy. And to try to hasten her political evolution will be to continue chaos in that country.

WHERE SCIENCE FAILS

For the second time this year, science claims to have discovered a method for changing mercury into gold. This time it is a Japanese physicist, Dr. Nagaoka, of Tokyo, who has performed the feat.
This is thrilling. Wonderful is science.
But it would be a great deal more thrilling and wonderful if Nagaoka after turning his mercury into gold, would go on and discover some better way of turning that gold into food, clothing and shelter than at present prevails.
It is not really hard to get gold, or some form of currency that represents gold. But where the real job comes in is in so adjusting economic conditions as to make that gold 100 per cent efficient.
Dr. Nagaoka's 16-year effort to make gold, does not represent half so much real brain sweat as has been expended in the last 10 years to make a dollar's worth of gold worth 100 cents.
Science does many wonderful things. But in 99 per cent of its discoveries it seems to fall just a little short of making those discoveries have a real concrete value for the man in the street.

similar to women of today.
These ancient Sumerian ladies had bells.
They bobbed their hair.
They used lipsticks, rouge and eyebrow pencils.
They had legal and property rights.
Indeed, except for the fact that the higher classes of them cooked their husbands' meals, saved the odd button on their husbands' pants and deigned to bear children, the passage of these 5000 or 7000 years seems to have brought no changes at all.
And if delicatessen stores, apart-ancient Sumeria might have been an

Editor Macleod Times:

Dear Sir—

In view of the approaching consummation of the Church Union in Canada, it will be of interest to your readers to know how it is working out in places where it has already been tried for some time. Only lately the writer visited Blairmore and had an opportunity of observing at first hand the success of its operation there.
Six years ago, at Blairmore, when Organic Union was definitely resolved upon, the Presbyterian congregation resolved to enter upon a local policy of Union. In this movement they were joined by the Baptist congregation, which was then without a minister, the Methodist were organized at Blairmore. It was resolved to form a Community Church, with the understanding that when Organic Union should be consummated the Blair-more Union Church would join the United Church of Canada, and it was also decided to invite Rev. W. T.
Young to become the Minister of the United congregations. How has the experiment worked out? The Baptist Church has been used for preaching services as it was the largest building. The Presbyterian Church building has been converted into a Club room for the young people and the Presbyterian Book of Praise is used at all services. The work or amalgamating the various elements of the congregation has been accomplished.

The Sunday services are so well attended that the seating capacity of the Church has been almost overtaxed. The morning congregation is attended by young people from 12 to 20 years of age. There were 200 at this service; the Minister's Bible class had an attendance of over 50 young men and young women.
The afternoon meeting is attended by the juveniles from 5 to 12 years of age; there were 117 present that Sunday, making a total attendance of 210 at the Sunday School. The evening meeting is a regular preaching service for the adults and the church which has a gallery was literally packed to the roof. There were over 200 present at this service. The finances of the Church are sustained without burdening the people. A parsonage was purchased by the Board of the United Congregation two years ago at a cost of $4,500 and during the two years $4,000 of this has been paid in spite of the fact that Blairmore suffered from the Home Bank failure. The salaries are all paid monthly, a contribution to the Missions is annually given equally to the Baptist, Presbyterian and Methodist Churches. The midweek activities of the Church are conducted under the C.S.E.T. movement. The athletic work has been so successful that the Blairmore Junior Baseball team holds the provincial championship cup. The intellectual side has resulted in the fact that this congregation has six young people at the University and six more at the normal school. The religious interest is sustained throughout the week, the young people attend and take an active part in the midweek prayer service. In addition to this the older men of the congregation have organized themselves into an organization known as the "Bobs" (Blairmore Old Boys) the sole purpose of this organization is to foster and develop anything and everything that will help the young people to live their lives at their best. If the baseball or hockey teams are ready without fail to supply what is needed. They are now installing in the Young People's Club Room a radio outfit with loud speaker attachment.

The Church has become so United that denominational differences are forgotten. It would be an utter impossibility to revive these divisions.
A fine community spirit has been developed in the Town and recently the Crown's Nest Pass United Church Association has been formed similar conditions are being developed in the other mining camps in the Pass.
Through the National Religious Press a local Church paper "Unity" of which Rev. W. T. Young is editor, is published monthly.

Undoubtedly the success of this work is due in large measure to the personality and untiring efforts of the Rev. W. T. Young and to his leadership the success is largely due, but his work could not have been accomplished if Church Union had not been resolved upon.
What has been accomplished in Blairmore with its diversity of race languages and creeds, can and ought to be duplicated in every place. The Church must lead the way in the development of consecrated, christian Canadian citizenship.

Sincerely,
George D. Armstrong.

Yet most people who have sunshine in their souls have cash in their pockets.

registered seed grain is now begin-accepting shipments of grain loose in cars, and the cars are well clean-

Complete modern loading and unload-at the plant. The quality of the seed grain being received to date is of much better quality than at first anticipated.

CONTROLLING TUBERCULOSIS

The restricted area plan of controlling tuberculosis has been put into operation by the Health of Animals Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa. Its object is the establishment of tuberculosis-free areas and provision is therefore made for the testing of all classes in a given territory. This system affords an excellent opportunity for systematic and methodical work and permits the testing of the largest number of cattle in a given period.
The prompt slaughter of all re-actors and the cleansing and disinfection of all infected premises carried on under the system, provides a clean territory for a healthy herd. These herds are further protected from infection from outside sources by cattle not being permitted to come into the area except for immediate slaughter under certain precautions, unless they have first passed an official satisfactory tuberculin test. In his report for last year, Dr. George Hilton, Veterinary Director General, refers to the only area in Canada that has far been dealt with under this system. It is located in the Carman district in Manitoba and comprises twenty townships. The first test of all cattle in this area, numbering, 16,550 head, was completed early in April, 1923, and 992 reacted, or 5.97 per cent.

HOMENAKERS' CORNER

(Conducted by Miss Alice L. Webb, State College of Washington.)

THAT NEW HOUSE

Every time Dad pays the rent he thinks, "If this was my house, I would not have to keep paying every month. I'd pay the taxes once a year, and I'd know that there was not the likelihood of its being sold over my head, or the rent raised, or something like that." Then he talks it over with mother, and she says, "You know, Fred, I've wanted a home of my own."

The first thing the architect wants to know, when dad and mother go to him about the new house, is how much money they expect to spend on it. A house is like a dress you have to cut according to your cloth, and you can't build a 10-room Old-English Manor house for the same money you can a 3-room Pasadena bungalow. It is a mistake, says Prof. Stanley A. Smith of the architecture department at the State College of Washington, to be anything but perfectly frank to the outset about the money end of house plans.

The next thing the architect must know is where the house is to stand. The architect should know the individuals in the family if possible. The type of house to be built in a hollow probably would be all wrong on a hilltop. A corner house might be planned differently from one on a narrow lot between two tall buildings. The frontage, slope, and neighborhood must be known if he is to plan something appropriate and satisfactory.

The likes and dislikes of the builder should be known. If there is a certain type of staircase or fireplace or doorway that "just suits" mother, she should let the architect know. An excellent plan for prospective home builders is to keep a scrapbook, whenever a picture or an idea comes to the builder's attention, he should put it into the book, or jot down where it can be found. Then if the book is turned over to the architect, he will have a guide to the preferences of his client. He may not be able to use all the suggestions, but they will help him to plan something satisfactory.

If there is an invalid, probably a downstairs bedroom will be wanted; or a special sunny room on the south. If there are many children, a playroom or nursery might be included in the plans. If dad is a hunter or fisherman, an extra closet for the outfit bags and equipment would please him.

The day of the ugly little cigar-box house set upon the prairie and painted shrimp red or robin's egg blue, is gone now, for people are being educated to want better things, through the articles in magazines and newspapers, and especially through the advertising illustrations. Manufacturers of paints and roofing materials, mill work and cement blocks, etc., now employ the aid of architects in planning their advertising pictures. As a result, the next period of domestic architecture, says Prof. Smith, will be something that the American people will be justly proud of.

THE FIRST BUSINESS VENTURE A PEANUT STAND

(By S. Ewart Andrews)

The following very interesting article appeared in the Annual Fall number of "The Canadian Grocer" published by the Maclean Publishing Co., Ltd., of Toronto, and is a compliment to one of Macleod's own Storekeepers:—

"If the average grocer were asked how to start in business on forty dollars, he would probably say there was only one way of doing it, and that was by borrowing Aladdin's Lamp and getting the spell to do it for you. Nevertheless, Charles J. Reach, of Macleod, Alberta, was able to do it without Aladdin's lamp, although it took him some years to get properly established—not merely days or weeks. His original enterprise was a peanut stand which has now grown to be one of the largest and most substantial retail stores in Alberta, outside of Calgary and Edmonton, but it was not without lots of hard work, perseverance, and business ability on the part of Mr. Reach that his business has grown to its present proportions.

In the West, Macleod was the centre of a large ranching area where the Hudson's Bay Company had its trading post for the Black Indians and Peigan Indians and where the cowboys from the numerous ranches used to do their shopping.

Total Assets Forty Dollars

"Mr. Reach's assets at that time consisted of forty dollars, a good name and pleasant smile. Making the most that he could out of these assets he started up in the profession of peanut vending, and although this little business prospered from the very start, Mr. Reach did not rely on that entirely, and obtained a position with the old pioneer firm of J. B. Smith & Company, and later, when the Hudson's Bay Company opened their new store he went with them. In the meantime the peanut stand was proving a great success and was being looked after for the most part by Mr. Reach's brother, who was also in Macleod.

"Sometime after going with the Hudson's Bay Company, Mr. Reach fell for the lure of the opposite sex and with all the recklessness characteristic of an old pioneer, he became a married man. Mrs. Reach proved to be a true helpmate and by working hard in what had now developed into a full-fledged general store, contributed not a little to Mr. Reach's successful business career. However, there is always somebody taking the joy out of life and the Hudson's Bay Company could not quite see why they should employ one of their competitors to work in their own store and therefore delivered an ultimatum to Mr. Reach that he must either give up his own store or resign his position with them. This, of course, at the time caused some little worry to Mr. Reach, and after due deliberation and discussion with his wife, decided not to resign, as it happens, to resign from his position with the Hudson's Bay Company, and to carry on his own store which had now grown to a lusty infant.

"Mr. Reach was not a lazy man, not by a long way, in fact even now full dress for him is rolled-up shirt sleeves and minus a coat—very rarely, if ever, does he wear a coat—and so he took up a farm about two miles outside of Macleod and walked to and from it every day, at the same time, with his wife's industrious assistance, continuing his store in the town. There was a delivery service in conjunction with the store, although not a motor delivery such as he has now. (In fact nowhere in the world was there such a thing as motor delivery service in those days). His delivery was by wheelbarrow, of which he was the chauffeur.

"From this beginning the business grew to its present size, a testament to the perseverance of Mr. Reach. There is quite a large staff employed and the pay-roll is a heavy one.

Managed by Five

"Up until the year 1907 Mr. Reach had handled food and coal, etc., along with the groceries but in that year a disastrous fire occurred which totally destroyed the store building and everything in it. There was nothing left but a heap of cinders and ashes. Mr. Reach did not lose heart but immediately set to work and made plans for the building of a large new modern store in which he could handle other lines such as dry-goods, boots and shoes, men's wear, etc., as well as groceries. His plans materialized the same year and he has continued doing business in the same store ever since.

Made a Liability Company

"In the year 1923 the business was turned into a limited liability company, with H. C. Winter, Mr. Reach's right-hand man, as secretary-treasurer, the company being known as Reach & Company, Limited.

"The manager of the grocery department is Mr. Shield, who is something of an oldtimer himself, having been with Mr. Reach since 1899, and has weathered the ups and downs of business conditions along with Mr. Reach.

"Mr. Reach has great confidence in his staff of carefully chosen employees, and lets them use their own judgment entirely in doing what they are employed to do, seldom, if ever, interfering, because, as he says, if he employs intelligent people to do certain work and they do it to the best of their ability and do not loaf on the job, what more can be required?

Buys When Market is Favorable

"One of the features of the business is the storeroom in the basement of the store, where all the stock not on display is kept. Owing to keen business methods, Reach & Company have developed quite a strong buying power and buy heavily in particular lines when the market is low, consequently they have a large surplus stock all the time, which is all laid out on shelves and properly arranged in the basement just as though it was another store for customers to enter in to choose from. When it is time to change of this stock nothing else but keep the stock properly arranged, and replenish the stock up-stairs as it gets low. He also keeps a close tab on what fresh stock is likely to be required. In this way they never run out of anything, and at the same time there is never any chance of buying a lot of any particular line of goods of which they already have plenty. This system of having the stock carefully arranged in the basement is of incalculable value at the time of the annual stock-taking.

"Charles Reach is a keen supporter of the Wednesday half-holiday, as it gives the clerks an opportunity for a little recreation and makes a break in the week for them. The clerks appreciate this and it gives them increased pep for their work in the store. Mr. Reach states that there is absolutely no ill-effect upon business arising from closing for the half day each week, and the customers do not mind it in the least, in fact have got quite used to it. The business closing hours for all stores in Macleod are one o'clock on Wednesdays all the way through the year.

U. S. ADVANCE

Washington, Nov. 19.—(U.S. News Service.)—The U.S. State Department has prepared a note on the 15th, the matter of which has not yet been made public.

The embassy of Mexico in London, relates partly to the question of joint engineering construction. Persons close to the government here assume that an early agreement with the Canadian government will be reached. They point out that the United States has been a long time in reaching an agreement with the Canadian government on the subject of the St. Lawrence waterways project are becoming more and more beginning to criticize the administration because of the slowness of diplomatic procedure.

The lecture on Irrigation given under the auspices of the Macleod Board of Trade on Tuesday evening last was very much enjoyed by those who attended. The concert program was postponed on account of the smallness of attendance which no doubt was due to lack of advertising, but the program arranged by Messrs. Whitworth and Wood will be given at some future date.

The monthly meeting of the Public School board was held in the office of the board on Tuesday evening, when all members were present. After routine business the subject of measles in the town was discussed and the secretary was instructed to write the Medical Health Officer to watch carefully the disease, and take all precautions to prevent the spread of this or any other disease that might be feared among the children. Fuel and caretaking was also a subject.

A very enjoyable meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the Oddfellows Hall Tuesday afternoon, when a paper given by Mrs. R. J. E. Gardiner on "The History and Progress of Settlement in the Canadian North West" was heartily enjoyed.

F. Mackenzie of the Union Bank Staff Macleod entertained a few friends to a social evening lately. The program was mostly taken up with a radio program, which was heartily enjoyed and the trial of a specially constructed loud speaker, invented by Mr. Mackenzie for a radio outfit built by himself, proved satisfactory in every way.

The three little daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lantinga entertained their friends to a party on Saturday afternoon last, when a very enjoyable and jolly time was spent in games, music and social intercourse. Amongst the little guests present were: Mamie McLeod, Margaret Swinerton, Mona Grier, Mary Collis, Elaine Portch, Dorothy Butcher and Laurel Armstrong.

SWEET BOB WHITE!

Bob is not white—but the daisies are
And the pear trees are whiter than snow
And there's white in the clouds as they drift afar
And in the sunlight's glow
Bob White is just a small brown quail,
As brown as the nest in the grass
Hid under the bushes so men will fail
To find it as they pass.

Bob is not white—but Bob is sweet
And he knows where the sweet things grow.
In the white, sweet May he must oft repeat,
"Sweet-Bob-White—he thinks so!"
And Lady Bob in the white of May Teaches the young ones to sing
"Sweet-Bob-White" in their faint young way—
They practice it all spring!
